

Integrity, Ethics and Leadership in Public Safety

“About Leading Behind the Badge”

Presented by the

Apache Junction Police Department

and

Superstition Fire and Medical District

Law enforcement Fire/EMS Corrections

Course Description: One of the greatest training needs currently facing the police, fire/ems and correctional services is the need for sound and effective integrity, ethics and leadership training. More employees are lost each year due to “integrity and ethics breakdowns” than are lost to actual line of duty deaths.

These usually, self-inflicted acts that lead to personal and professional derailment often generate intense media attention that not only negatively impact the employee, but family members, departments, and the communities that we serve. “Integrity, Ethics and Leadership in Public Safety” is not a “touchy-feel good” course, but rather a powerful one-day training seminar that gets right to the heart of the public safety and criminal justice cultures, the real life integrity issues and ethical dilemmas that working professionals at all levels face on a daily basis, and throughout their career.

The instructor’s unique way of taking unpopular, controversial, boring and often complex subjects and presenting them so that participants can easily listen, understand and immediately integrate proven principles, makes this course very effective and career enhancing.
